The committee meeting for AY 2001-2002 was called to order at 3:35 p.m. by chairman Dr. Abbas Johari on Thursday, April 11th in North Shepler room # 413.

Old Business:
1.0 Minutes from the March 14th, 2002 meeting were approved and passed with the corrections discussed.

2.0 Under the minutes, motion was made to re-discuss the dropping of the course SOCI 3423 (Death and Dying) and to table it until next meeting because of the findings of enrollment this semester.

3.0 Dr. Johari announced that the Psychology Capstone Course had been withdrawn.

New Business:
1.0 Mark Spencer from the department of English, Foreign Languages, and Journalism presented several proposals which were discussed by the committee after he left and the results are as follow:

• Concerning the survey courses (English 2543, Survey of English Literature to 1800; English 2653, Survey of English Literature since 1800; English 2713, Survey of World Literature through the Renaissance; English 2723, Survey of World Literature since the Renaissance; English 2773, Survey of American Literature to 1865; English 2883, Survey of American Literature since 1865) the committee wanted to table the motion until information concerning enrollment for each of the survey courses for the past five years could be reviewed. Also, the committee wanted to know what 'most' meant in terms of which other universities who have these 'survey' courses. There were also questions concerning the need for the word 'survey' in the title.

• Concerning the dropping of English 3313, African American Literature; English 3323, American Indian Literature; and English 4713, Women in Literature, down to a 2000 level course - the committee passed the motion with the majority under the condition that the GR rating be dropped. You can not receive graduate level at a 2000 level course. The department needs to request a GR dropping of the course too.
