SCHOLARS

CONVOCATION WEEK

2022

OCTOBER 31 - NOVEMBER 4

2022

Congratulations, Scholars!

It is my great honor to introduce you to one of our new ways to celebrate achievements at Cameron. This year we will acknowledge the accomplishments of our faculty, staff and students with Cameron University's Scholars Convocation Week.

We are pleased to recognize our honor society members, scholarship recipients, and those involved in creative and scholarly activities with a week-long celebration. As you peruse the names in this book and the works displayed around campus, be sure to take the opportunity to congratulate your fellow students, faculty, and colleagues for their contributions to academic excellence.

Convocation is a time for all of us to reflect on what we have achieved so far. It is rightly celebrated at the mid-point of the semester to give us the extra motivation to continue to the end. As you finish this semester, remember the goals you have set for yourself or the dreams you are trying to accomplish. Work hard to finish this semester strong!

Please take the time to stop by the different buildings at the Lawton and Duncan campuses to observe the honor society and scholarship recipient boards; scholarly posters, books or artifacts; and creative works such as artwork or literature that have been produced by our inspiring students, faculty, and staff.

Visit the Convocation webpage for more information: www.cameron.edu/convocation. I hope you will enjoy this new way of celebrating the many academic accomplishments on our campus!

Sincerely,

Ronna Vanderslice

ACADEMIC GONFALONS

Every academic discipline at Cameron University is represented by its own gonfalon – a vertical banner displayed from a crossbar – that is traditionally carried during academic ceremonies. Each gonfalon has imagery and colors specific to that discipline. Cameron’s gonfalons are displayed at major academic events, such as Commencement, and are often carried by honor students within that discipline when they lead faculty and other students in a procession. Gonfalons with upward chevrons represent undergraduate departments, while those pointing downward denote graduate studies.
